Designed to Perform

With a variety of attachments and options, the SL-4V can be fitted to perform almost any task when it comes to top load case packing. A 2-axis servo actuator controls the load function. This insures accurate positioning of the product as it enters the empty case. Pneumatic flap guides control the minor flaps of the case and pose as product guides during insertion. The empty case indexer places the case into a flight system that delivers the case to the load area with the proper case spacing.
